RESEARCH OPPORTUNITY

Are you a woman aged 18-50, who is legally blind? If so, you are invited to participate in Online Research investigating the eating attitudes of women with a vision impairment.

The current research investigates perceptions about gender roles, the influence of the media, and how these impact eating attitudes for 18-50 year old women who are legally blind. The survey will take approximately 20-30 minutes to complete, and your contribution will assist in building our understanding of how gender concepts and the media impact vision impaired women’s eating attitudes. (HREC Approval Number 212050515).

The survey has been adjusted to size 24 font. JAWS screen reader is also compatible with the survey website. Braille or large print surveys are available to be posted to you for completion if you cannot complete the online version. If you require extra assistance in participating in the study, please do not hesitate to email the researcher at 222249@my.acap.edu.au so that they may arrange for the required support.
